

My Eternal Journey

9 My journey never ends: I spend my never-ending life
20 going in eternal circles! This can be exciting but at times
23 it is exhausting.

33 Yesterday, I was resting in the deep, dark ocean when 44 the current pulled me nearer the surface and I felt myself
53 becoming lighter – I was evaporating. My friends tried to 66 pull me back but it was too late: the sun was too powerful 78 and I soared into the sky. How amazing it was to be 89 floating high above the sea! A huge gust of wind blew
99 me along until I collided with more water vapour and 109 formed a cloud. We were all busy, hustling and bustling, 119 joining together, until we were heavy enough to fall back
130 to Earth. I wondered where I would end up this time...

Quick Questions

1. Which words mean the same as 'perpetual'?

2. When does the water droplet become lighter?

3. How does the mood of the water droplet change throughout the story?

4. What will happen to the water droplet now?
